IMPORTANT

GARDENERS

AGRICULTURISTS!

Emperor William Cabbage.

THE best, largest, hardiest and most profitable variety of WINTER CABBAGE known in Europe, and imported to this country exclusively by the undersigned, where, with little cultivation, it flourishes astonishingly, attaining an enormous size, and selling in the market at prices most gratifying to the producer. In transplanting, great care should be used to give sufficient space for growth. Solid heads the size of the mouth of a flour barrel is the average run of this choice variety. One package of the seed sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents, and one 3 cent postage stamp. Three packages to one address $1 00 and two 3 cent stamps. Twelve packages sent on receipt of $3 00.

Read what a well known Garrett Co. Marylander says of the Emperor William Cabbage:

BLOOMINGTON, GARRET Co., Md., Jan. 22, 1877.

MR. JAMES CAMPBELL, 66 Fulton St. N. Y. Dear Sir:—I bought some seed from you last spring, and it was good. Your Emperor William Cabbage suits this climate well. On a mountain side the seed you sent me produced Cabbages weighing thirty pounds each.

Very truly yours, JAMES BROWN.

I am Sole Agent in the U. S. for the famous

Maidstone Onion Seed.

from Maidstone, Kent Co., England, producing the most prolific and finest flavored Onions known and yielding on suitable soils from 300 to 900 bushels per acre, sown in drills. Mr. Henry Colvin, a large market gardener at Syracuse, N. Y., writes, "Your English Onion Seed surprised me by its large yield, and the delicious flavor of the fruit. I could have sold any quantity if this market at good prices. My wife says she will have no other onions for the table in future. Send me as much as you can for the enclosed $5.00."

One package of seed sent on receipt of 50 cents and one 3 cent postage stamp, three packages to one address $1 00 and two 3 cent stamps. Twelve packages sent on receipt of $3 00.

My stamp is added. A driver desiring to secure either of the above fine seeds, should not delay their orders. All seed WARRANTED FRESH AND TO GERMINATE. Cash must accompany all orders. For either of the above seeds, address

NOTHING A YEAR.

AN INTERESTING ESSAY ON BEATS.

Not of the Vegetable Kingdom, But of The Species Known as Dead-Beats.

The original dead-beat is to be found in all grades of society, in all parts of the world, of all ages and nationalities, and embraces both sexes; in fact they are so numerous and changeable that to tell one on sight would take more than the wisdom of Solomon or the acuteness of a Philadelphia lawyer; aside from mingling with the creme de la cremie, "on change," in first-class commercial circles, in all the professions, and above all in connection with political cliques and politicians at large.

Hotel proprietors and boarding-house keepers perhaps suffer more than any other class of these creditors of the world, for, as the world owes them a living, eating and sleeping being absolute necessities for continuance of life, as a matter of course, those who unsuspectingly provide them with these necessities expecting an equivalent, are mulcted, for a board bill is the last thing a beat would think of paying; if he ever dreams of paying anything it would be a whiskey bill, for bartenders as a rule are too "fly" for them.

Not long since a party in New York when finally caught in the act openly boasted that for over two years he had lived at the finest uptown boarding houses and not paid one cent during that time for board; he was gentlemanly in appearance, well dressed, in possession of fine conversational powers and a regular "masher" among the ladies; his modus operandi was to call at a first class boarding house, engage apartments, and before partaking of the first meal inform the land-lady that he "could not get his baggage over the ferry that morning," "had not arrived at the express office yet," "was delayed on the road by an accident," etc., etc., always framing some plausible excuse so as to gain a foothold and in the interim making himself agreeable to all the ladies in the house, particularly the landlady and her daughters, if perchance she had any, being a pianist, a good reader, a charming dancer, and with such "winning ways," that, before she is hardly aware of the fact, he is "into her" to the tune of a month's board, and some fine morning Mr. D. B. steps out and forgets to return, and goes in search of "fairer fields and pastures new."

Another class of dead-beats are those who watch their chance at our larger hotels and when no one is looking, slip into the dining-room and steal a meal; some have got this systematized down to so fine a point that they can tell to a nicety at just what hour and minute they stand a better chance; as a matter of course where two or three hundred people are sitting down to a meal it is a hard matter to discern one person who has not registered.

Still another class are those who on stopping at a hotel have a fair showing of baggage, but which in reality is worthless; this class have many devices, such as screwing their trunks to the floor after surreptitiously getting what little clothing they have out of the houses, filling their valises with anything heavy available and some have gone so far as to have patent valises made to order that will double up like a patent dinner pail, and after having put all the clothing it contains on their back, after getting two or three days board, coolly fold up their valise and put it in their pocket, taking the first opportunity to repack it and play the game on another hotel.

Perhaps the worst annoyance to hotel men are the female beats with which the country is flooded; they travel on their "winning ways" and get into the landlord before he knows it, and when they are justly punished, which is very seldom, fall back on the plea that their "sex protects them."

Not long since a lady (?) was driven in a hack up to the ladies' entrance of one of our leading hotels and was escorted to the ladies' parlor. She was dressed in the height of fashion, but neat and tasty and by no means gaudy. The only article of baggage she had with her was a small box, neatly wrapped up in manilla paper, with a shawl-strap attached, by means of which it was carried. This she seemed to handle with great care, and requested that it be placed in the private vault of the house and a receipt given for the same. She was a bewitching blonde of ravishing form and a smile sweet enough to melt the heart of a Shylock. She entranced all the boarders; spent a pleasant week; and one bright morning started out to "do a little shopping," and for all that her friends in the house know is still shopping. After an absence of two or three days the proprietors' suspicions were at last aroused, and opening the aforesaid small box, which by the way was hermetically sealed with red sealing-wax, they found four bricks of the best Milwaukee manufacture.—Hotel World.

"Not Guilty."

Not Guilty: When a grocer's boy yesterday delivered a basket full of packages to a lady on Columbia street, her quick eye detected the fact that she had received only 11 oranges in place of a dozen.

"Young man, you ate that other orange as you came along!" she exclaimed, as she recounted the number.

"Never, never!" he earnestly replied.

"Well, where is it, then?" "They probably counted wrong, ma'am."

"Well, I'll go right back with you and see."

"I didn't eat that orange," he began, after a little reflection, "but I'll tell you how it was. Down here about about two blocks I saw an old chap out in his garden, hat hanging on a plum tree as he sawed at a limb. He was the bald-headed-est man I ever saw, ma'am, and I've travelled all over the world."

"Well, what has that to do with oranges?" she asked.

"Lots, ma'am—heaps. If you was a boy and you saw such a head, and you knew you could hit it and get away all right, wouldn't you put an orange agin it?"

"It was very wicked," she softly answered.

"Well, I dunno but 'twas, but if you seen that old gent catch his legs and make a jump, and if you'd heard him yell out as he came down and grabbed for his hat, why ma'am, you'd lend me another orange to pop at some one as I go back."

More Names of Authors.

A lady communicates to the St. Louis Republican still another list of conundrums involving the names of authors. The list, which is an excellent one, is as follows:

1. A cunning monarch—Lingsley.
2. A rock that survives—Livingstone.
3. Excellent before wealthy—Goodrich.
4. The first part of music, and a tress—Mulock.
5. A sick margin—Virgil.
6. A sinful son of Adam—Kane.
7. Who carries heavy weights?—Porter.
8. A rim of value—Edgeworth.
9. A sunbeam between a stocking and a tormenter—Socrates.
10. Continues to come ashore—London.
11. Wait upon and bother—Cervantes.
12. Settled upon a pier—Lord Lytton.
13. What the darkey said to his chicken when he brought him forward at the cock-fight—Darwin.
14. Abbreviated book, rip!—Voltaire.
15. The duck that sang a fairy song—Joseph Rodman Drake.
16. Servant girls—Arthur Helps, author of Casimer Maremma.
17. What is due—Robert Dale Owen.
18. Oh! Martin—Martin-clau.
19. Only timber—Sherwood.
20. What ladies of color like to dress in—De Stael.

24. What a hog does—Waller.
25. I refuse the fashion—Isaac Newton.
26. A song not well done—Raleigh.

Abuse and misrepresentation have driven Mr. Hewitt from the Chairmanship of the Democratic Executive Committee. If Mr. Tilden had been inaugurated, Democrats would have been loud in praise of Mr. Hewitt's management of the campaign. As it is, all his acts are condemned as blunders.
